it's quite an entertaining game, though the game doesn't have lot's of detail or a challenge to it it's still fun. please update the game though. Steam give my money back :( Very boring and you can't really lose. I have a love for business management games, when i backed this game on greenlight, i thought that it will offer some sort of progression system, it turned out to be nothing but a "cart" selling game and no progression!!

After playing for 2 hours, i can say that there is no progression system what so ever. With all the detailed business modules and balance sheets and business plans, i 1st thought that i will end up having a huge business company and be able to sell different product and not just one.

Yet the only thing you end up doing is moving your cart around and refilling your stocks without any sense of progression, competition, or challenge.

What a disappointment!. Steam give my money back :( Very similar to the old school Lemonade Stand games, with a polished twist. Game seems to have little in the way of developing and upgrading your company, so I feel like I have experienced the whole game in less than 30 minutes. Hoping the game might be expanded a lot in the future.
